Day 2: Thursday 5 October, Brussels

- Horta Museum, Saint-Gilles
- Art Nouveau coach tour, including exteriors of Maison Hankar, Maison Ciamberlani and Hotel Tassel
- Hôtel Max Hallet (by special appointment)
- Hôtel Solvay (by special appointment), Ixelles
- Wiels Contemporary Art Centre
- Welcome Dinner at La Quincaillerie

Brussels is the capital of Art Nouveau and magnificent structures throughout the capital city are recognised as 'world heritage' by UNESCO. At the turn of the 19th century Brussels went through a period of unrivaled effervescence. The middle classes, merchants and artists opted to have their houses built in the style in vogue: Art Nouveau, marking the beginning of modern architecture and design. The Austrian architect Josef Hoffman, the painter Gustav Klimt and the French architect Hector Guimard all joined the Belgian architects Victor Horta, Paul Hankar, Henry van de Velde, the furniture designer Serrurier-Bovy and the jeweller Philippe Wolfers to get their inspiration.

We begin our study of Brussels Art Nouveau with a guided tour of the Horta Museum, located in the private house and studio of architect Victor Horta (1861-1947). Built between 1898 and 1901 at 23-25, rue Américaine in Saint-Gilles, the two buildings are typical of Art Nouveau at its height. The interior decoration has largely been retained, the mosaics, stained glass, and wall decorations forming a harmonious and elegant whole, down to the last detail.

Led by a specialist guide from ARAU (Atelier de Recherche et d'Action Urbaines) we take a walking tour of the Art-Nouveau buildings of Saint-Gilles and Ixelles, viewing the exteriors of Roosenboom House designed by Albert Roosenboom a pupil of Victor Horta; the Maison Hankar and Maison Ciamberlani – both designed by architect Paul Hankar; Hôtel Tassel by Victor Horta 1893-1897; Hotel Otlet by architect Octave van Rysselberghe and Henry van de Velde and Hôtel Hannon by architect Jules Brunfaut.

By special appointment, we view the interiors of the UNESCO World Heritage-listed Hôtel Max Hallet and Hôtel Solvay, both designed by Victor Horta.

On avenue Louise, the restored Hôtel Max Hallet is a restrained structure of 1904 where the straight, slender façade is decorated with elegant doors and windows plus an elongated stone balcony with a wrought-iron balustrade.

Also on avenue Louise, the Hôtel Solvay is a luxurious residence built by Victor Horta in 1894 for the Solvay family. The 33-year-old architect was given complete freedom and unlimited funds to design the interior and furnishings. This is generally considered the most ambitious and spectacular work of Horta in the Art Nouveau period. It features a decorated staircase, mosaic floor, painted walls, wrought iron work and custom furniture.

We then take an architecture tour of the Wiels Contemporary Art Centre, named after a famous Belgian beer. The architecture tour focuses on the restoration and the renovation of the brewery building designed in the 1930s by Belgian architect Adrien Blomme, one of the rare examples of modernist industrial architecture in Brussels.

Tonight we enjoy our welcome meal at La Quincaillerie, located in a former hardware store. The building was designed by an apprentice of Victor Horta and a lot of elements of the former business were kept intact (Overnight Brussels) BD

Day 3: Friday 6 October, Brussels

- Musée David et Alice van Buuren
- Pierre Marcolini Chocolate, Grand Sablon
- Guided tour of Musée Fin-de-Siècle

We start our day with a visit to the David and Alice van Buuren Museum, a private house built from 1924 to 1928, decorated with sublime furnishings, stained glass and fine paintings covering five centuries of art.

Following our tour of the museum, we head for the Grand Sablon where there will be time at leisure for lunch and to visit the Pierre Marcolini Haute Chocolaterie. Marcolini's creations are designed in collaboration with Tom Dixon, stylist Olympia Le-Tan and fashion designer Kitsuné.

This afternoon we take a guided tour of Brussels' Musée Fin-de-Siècle, dedicated to arts and crafts at the turn of the 19th and 20th centuries. Opened in 2013, the museum includes displays of paintings, contemporary photography, architecture, film, music and literature – and a home for the outstanding collection of Art Nouveau furniture and decorative art work donated by the Gillion-Crowet family in 2006.

Artists represented include Belgian painters such as the impressionist-influenced Hippolyte Boulenger and Guillaume Vogels, the powerful imagery of Léon Spilliaert, and the remarkable expressionist and surrealist painter and printmaker, James Ensor. Major international figures are also well-represented with works by Van Gogh, the Pre-Raphaelites's Burne-Jones, and the key French artists of the time, including three contrasting works by Gauguin, sculpture by Rodin and paintings by Bonnard, Sisley and Seurat. (Overnight Brussels) B

Day 4: Saturday 7 October, Brussels

- Interior tour of Hôtel Hannon (by special appointment)
- Interior tour of Cauchie House (by special appointment)
- Afternoon guided tour of Schaerbeek including the interiors Maison Autrique (by special appointment)
- Guided architecture tour of Mix (Hotel, Co-working space, Library, Gym, Studios & Restaurants)

This morning we visit the Art Nouveau masterpiece Hôtel Hannon, the private home of Marie Debard and Édouard Hannon, commissioned to the architect Jules Brunfaut, in 1903. The interior conceived as an enclosed, dreamlike and symbolic universe features an impressive central staircase and stained glass windows. We also tour the temporary exhibition "Belgian Art Nouveau", which presents Art Nouveau in all its diversity through works by Paul Hankar, Henry van de Velde and Gustave Serrurier-Bovy.

Then we take a guided tour of Cauchie House, considered to be one of the most beautiful Art Nouveau masterpieces in Brussels. It was built in 1905 by Art Nouveau architect, painter and designer Paul Cauchie. It bears many exceptional decorative elements, including the famous Art Nouveau sgraffito. The sgraffiti, or engraved drawings, that you can see on the wall, represent the allegories of the arts.

The sleepy farming village of Schaerbeek was completely transformed in the early years of the twentieth century for the city's burgeoning middle classes, many of whom employed the period's best architects to design their new homes. Victor Horta, Gustave Strauven, François Hemelsoet and Henri Jacobs were just four of the architects who reinvented family houses, apartment buildings and educational buildings in the Art Nouveau style.

Accompanied by a specialist guide, we take a tour of this district which will include interior visits of the Maison Autrique. The Autrique House was the first town house built by Victor Horta in the Art Nouveau style. This house built in 1893 represents an essential step in the evolution of the greatest Belgian architect.

We end our day with a guided architecture and design tour of Mix (hotel, co-working space, library, gym, studios & restaurants). Located within the iconic building of the insurance company La Royale Belge. Originally designed in 1969 by Stapels and Dufau, the place has undergone a remarkable transformation under the artistic direction of renowned artist Lionel Jadot and his team of Belgian artists from Zaventem Atelier. (Overnight Brussels) B

Day 5: Sunday 8 October, Brussels

- Atomium, 1958 Brussels World Expo Building
- Guided tour of Design Museum Brussels
- Old Market, vintage market
- Guided tour of the Musée René Magritte

Today we begin with a visit to the Atomium, the landmark building constructed for the 1958 Brussels World Expo, and enjoy spectacular views of the city. We then take a guided tour of ADAM Brussels Design Museum. Opened in 2015, this new museum and art centre is dedicated to design and art from the 20th century. This unique collection includes Pop Art, everyday products, artworks and iconic industrial designs, all in a museum with a minimalistic interior. The museum's colourful entrance steps were designed by Jean Nouvel. Of particular note is the Plasticarium, which contains over 2000 plastic objects ranging from everyday gadgets to works of art. Two special exhibitions are on display: Design Generations as part of the biennale of contemporary design and Graphic 58 devoted to the 60th anniversary of the Atomium, the landmark building originally constructed for the 1958 Brussels World's Fair.

We then transfer to the Old Market or "Vieux Marché" in French. The Place du Jeu de Balle flea market is known throughout the world. Not only is it the place where the famous Tintin bought a model of the tall ship "La Licorne" in Hergé's The Secret of the Unicorn (1943), but also a true paradise for vintage hunters, as are the shops dotting on and around nearby rue Blaes and rue Haute.

We end the day with a guided tour of the museum devoted to displaying works by Brussels' most famous modern artist, the Surrealist painter René Magritte. The Musée René Magritte displays some 200 original paintings, drawing and sculptures, mostly donated by his wife Georgette and by his principal collector, Irène Hamoir Scutenaire. This is the world's largest collection of Magritte's work. (Overnight Brussels) B

Antwerp - 4 nights

Day 7: Tuesday 10 October, Brussels – Ghent – Antwerp

- De Krook Library, Ghent
- Market Hall by Marie-José Van Hee and Robbrecht en Daem
- Architecture projects by Atelier Vens Vanbelle: Pieter & Ruth, Stijn & Annemie and Brecht & Nele

Today we make the short 60-kilometre journey to the port city of Ghent, located at the confluence of the Leie and Scheldt rivers. The city is known for its medieval castle, guildhalls and art treasures.

On arrival we visit De Krook Library. The monumental building, which incorporates works by artist Michaël Borremans, was designed by the Ghent architecture firm Coussée & Goris Architecten and their partner TV RCR Aranda Pigem Vilalta Arquitectes. This Spanish architecture firm also won the Pritzker Prize (2017), the highest international distinction for architecture.

Then we view the city's Market Hall. Designed by Marie-José Van Hee and Robbrecht en Daem in 2012 the hall stands gracefully between the Belfort (a late-medieval belfry), St Nicolas's Church, Cathedral of St Bavo and the city hall. As an urban interior, the inside embraces the passer-by with a dual modulated wooden ceiling, whose small windows scatter light inwards. The building seems to assume a respectful role relative to the nobler historic stone buildings, by using a wooden, almost humble, finish. A glass envelope protects the wood and provides a soft shine, with the sky reflected.

Following some time at leisure for lunch, by special arrangement, we meet with Dries Vens and Maarten Vanbelle from Atelier Vens Vanbelle to view a number of their projects. Established in 2006, Atelier Vens Vanbelle is a Ghent based studio spawned from Dries Ven's and Maarten Vanbelle's fun-enthused love for redefining the everyday. Breathing new life into existing architectures and also establishing harmonies between the practicalities and the potential quirks of daily space, the duo are known for their impressive use of internal journeys, unusual material pairings and refined form/void compositions. Projects we shall visit include Piet & Ruth, Stijn and Annemie, and Brecht and Nele.

In the late afternoon we depart Ghent for the historic city of Antwerp, where we shall spend four nights at the upscale and beautifully designed Hotel Franq. Situated in a former bank, the hotel has been lovingly restored; authentic neoclassical features are effortlessly combined with contemporary furnishings. (Overnight Antwerp) B

Day 8: Wednesday 11 October, Antwerp

- Pulcinella Youth Hostel by Vincent Van Duysen

- Art Nouveau's Zurenborg district
- Groene Kwartier: Hotel August and The Jane
- Middelheim Open Air Sculpture Pavilion: Braem Pavilion & Het Huis
- Renaat Braem's House
- Maison Guiette, Law Courts, Huis van Roosmalen
- Architecture tour of the MAS (Museum aan de Stroom)
- 'New Faces of Harbour Cities': An architecture tour of Antwerp's Port including the Port House by Zaha Hadid Architects, Red Star Line Museum, Montevideo warehouses, FelixArchief and Westkaai-Kattendijkdok Project
- Dinner at restaurant Het Pomphuis

Antwerp, with its rich history of culture and commerce, is home to cutting-edge fashion, vintage style and great places to eat. During the 16th century, Antwerp was one of Europe's most prominent cities. It was home to artist Peter Paul Rubens, a hub for both architects and consumers of art, design and culture, and at the centre of the world's diamond industry, which formed the backbone of the city's commerce. This backdrop sets the scene today for a modern city full of medieval charm, its narrow winding lanes and cobbled streets leading the way to a playground for lovers of design, fashion and food.

Accompanied by a local architect, we spend a full day exploring a range of Antwerp's architectural projects.

We begin with visit to the Pulcinella Youth Hostel designed by architect Vincent Van Duysen, in 2010. 'By using a single volume adjusted to its surroundings, choosing a classical window typology and rhythm, and selecting a grey palette of materials a building is created that seamlessly fits into its surroundings.'

We make brief stops to view the exteriors of three distinctive buildings. Designed by Le Corbusier in 1926, the Maison Guiette was built as the residence and studio for painter René Guiette. It's an early and classic example of the International Style. It was later inhabited by Belgian fashion designer Ann Demeulemeester who employed Georges Baines to restore the house in 1985.

Designed by Richard Rogers Partnership in 2006, 'the Law Courts echo the characteristics of the landscape around Antwerp: the expansive, complex roof variously resembles sails, bent trees and church towers, as if seen through squinting eyes.'

The Huis van Roosmalen, (an iconic black and white striped building along the Scheldt quays), was designed by architect Bob Van Reeth, one of the most important Postwar Belgian architects, in 1990.

Then a stroll down the Cogels-Osylei, in the Zurenborg district, allows us to admire its wonderful houses built in styles including Art Nouveau, neo-Gothic, and Greek. We stop to view the façade of the Art Nouveau house de Zonnebloem designed by architect Jules Hoffman in 1900.

Nearby we visit the Groen Kwartier, the site of a former 19th-century military hospital. First, we visit the Hotel Augusta, another major project by architect Vincent Van Duysen (2019), where he renovated and connected three gardens and five public buildings including a convent.

Then, we view the restaurant The Jane, housed within the chapel of the former military hospital, renovated by Dutch Studio Piet Boon. The Jane's kitchen takes the place of the altar. An enormous chandelier – created by Beirut-based PSlab – hangs in the centre of the room. Stained glass windows that surround the room were illustrated by Studio Job. The 500 panels that make up the windows include contemporary motifs referencing food and drink.

The Antwerp-born architect Renaat Braem (1910-2001) is considered one of the finest representatives of Belgium's Mid-century Modern. He began his career as a trainee with Le Corbusier and worked incessantly from his hometown base from the late 1930s. Today we visit his own home, which following his death, was carefully restored and now opens as a museum by special appointment. Built by himself in 1958, the house is considered one of the best-preserved examples of his work. Here, "...the architect created a constellation of functional, interlocking cubes, which create games of volume and void both inside and outside. The mostly open-plan interior, containing his home as well as his L-shaped office space, uses natural materials and muted tones with Bauhaus-style bright prime colour accents – red, blue and yellow. Exotic objects from all over the world as well as a number of personal objects, souvenirs and designer products – mainly Italian and Danish – furnish the house's several areas, from the sitting room to the bedroom and black tile bathroom." Wallpaper, April 2011.

Braem designed some of the most representative modernist examples in Belgium, including the Middelheim Open Air Sculpture Pavilion which we next visit. This open-air museum for modern sculpture, set in a 27 ha park, includes works by Ai Weiwei, Alexander Calder, Jean Arp, Dan Graham, Per Kirkeby, Henry Moore, Panamarenko, François Pompon, Auguste Rodin, Joep Van Lieshout and Ossip Zadkine. To house smaller sculptures and more fragile works, Renaat Braem was commissioned to design an exhibition hall. Throughout his career he saw architecture as the art of organising space in order to liberate human kind. His architecture gradually adopted a more organic style, which is apparent in this pavilion.

Following some time at leisure for lunch at the museum's café we view the Het Huis, a semi-open pavilion designed by Robbrecht and Daem. This temporary exhibition site, which consists of plaited grey-green curved steel plates, has been seamlessly incorporated into the green surroundings of the park. Together with the Braem Pavilion, Het Huis is an example of the museum's ideal of merging art and architecture.

At Antwerp's dockside we take an architectural tour of the Museum aan de Stroom. Located on the former site of a Hanseatic warehouse in an area known as Het Eilandje ('the little island'), the MAS is intended to be a bridge between the city centre and the port. Designed by Dutch architects Willem Jan Neutelings and Michiel Riedijk, this 60-metre-tall tower block consists of wide panels of undulating glass separating 10 giant stone containers, stacked one on top of the other and clad in violent red Indian sandstone. Every storey of the tower has been rotated a quarter turn, creating a gigantic spiral staircase. This spiral space, in which a facade of corrugated glass is inserted, forms a public city gallery. During our tour we explore how this design is consistent with the historical function and atmosphere of the location, visit the promenade, and enjoy dramatic views of the city from the viewing depot.

Across from the MAS is Antwerp's Port Authority. A coach tour of this area will include a visit to the Port House (exterior only) designed by Zaha Hadid Architects, and the Red Star Line Museum. Designed by New York architects Beyer Blinder Belle, the museum's steel and glass observation tower provides panoramic views of the city and its historic port.

We also view the renovated heritage-listed Montevideo warehouses with their distinctive façades, the Sint-Felix warehouses converted into the FelixArchief by architects Robbrecht and Daem in 2006, and the impressive Westkaai-Kattendijkdok project with its six residential towers. Designed by leading architectural collectives from Belgium (ELD and De Architecten nv), Great Britain (David Chipperfield and Tony Fretton) and Switzerland (Diener & Diener), the six towers are surrounded by a beautiful park designed by Parisian landscape architect Michel Desvigne.

We end our day with an evening meal at Restaurant Het Pomphuis, which occupies an old pump house in Antwerp's harbour area. (Overnight Antwerp) BD

Day 9: Thursday 12 October, Antwerp

- Antwerp ModeMuseum (MoMu)
- Copyright Art and Architecture Book Store
- Walking tour of Antwerp's fashion district: Dries Van Noten, Ganterie Boon and A.F. Vandevorst
- Jan-Jan Van Essche Studio and Atelier Solarshop (by special appointment)

This morning we visit MoMu, Antwerp's fashion museum which looks back at four decades of Belgian fashion including masterpieces by Martin Margiela, A.F. Vandevorst, Ann Demeulemeester and Raf Simons. Next we visit Antwerp's spacious Copyright book store, which covers everything from architecture and design, to fashion and more specialist art books. Then we take a walking tour of Antwerp's fashion district discovering Antwerp's style icons and stores by Dries Van Noten, Ganterie Boon and A.F. Vandevorst.

Dries Van Noten (born 12 May 1958 in Antwerp) is a leading Belgian fashion designer, who won the International Award of the Council of Fashion Designers of America in 2008. That same year, he dressed actress Cate Blanchett for the Academy Awards, and has continued to dress her for other red carpet events. He currently creates four collections a year (men's and women's, both for summer and winter).

Ganterie Boon is a family-owned business specialising in Peccary and Chevreux leather gloves. One of the few remaining glove businesses in Belgium, this 120-year-old shop still retains its 19th-century features including original glove boxes, countertops, cabinets and chairs.

Belgian husband-wife team An Vandevorst and Filip Arickx launched their first collection in Paris in 1998 after graduating from the Fashion School of the Royal Academy of Fine Arts in Antwerp. They launched a shoe collection in 2003 and a lingerie line three years later. The pair is known for their deft contrasts in fabrics, textures, and colours, often layering silky lingerie-inspired pieces with tailored jackets, reworked white cotton button-downs, or dramatic capes.

This afternoon we are invited to visit the design studio and shop of Antwerp born Jan-Jan Van Essche. Also a graduate of the famous Antwerp Fashion Academy, praised for its innovation and simplicity, we discover Van Essche's slow approach to fashion and his concept of an annual wardrobe, rather than by season. (Overnight Antwerp) B

Day 10: Friday 13 October, Antwerp

- Theo Eyewear Atelier and Warehouse (by special appointment)
- Tour with lead architect and Farewell Lunch at Botanic Sanctuary Antwerp
- Time at leisure

This morning we start with a visit of Theo Eyewear. Theo is the house brand at Theo-Somers Optiek. In 1987 Wim Somers and Patrick Hoet launched their own range of spectacles and today have grown into an important player in the niche market for designer eyewear. We take a private tour of their atelier and warehouse.

The recently opened 5-star Botanic Sanctuary Hotel stands on the foundations of a 12th-century monastery. We tour this unique restoration project with the lead architect from AIDarchitecten. The monastery historic character has been preserved all over the place, enhanced by a sophisticated contemporary touch, revealing ancient stonework and structures. The hotel's setting adjacent to the Botanical Gardens is integral to the 1,000sq m Botanic Health Spa, which has been designed to reflect a cloistral devotion to healing plants and herbs. The focus on herbal healing stems from the monastery's history when the original convent's brothers and sisters would grow vegetables and herbs for food and to provide medicinal remedies. In the 16th century, renowned apothecary Pieter Coudeberg established a medicinal herb garden next door. It is considered the precursor of the city's modern-day Botanical Garden. As part of the restoration, the monastery's former pharmacy was also brought back to life. The herbal apothecary brand Saint Charles Apothecary has opened its flagship store within the pharmacy.

Following the architecture and design tour, we enjoy a farewell lunch at Fine Fleur, one of Botanic Sanctuary's four fine dining restaurants, led by Michelin-starred chefs Jacob Jan Boerma and Thomas Diepersloot. The remainder of the day is at leisure. (Overnight Antwerp) BL

Physical Ratings

The number of flags is a guide to the degree of difficulty of ASA tours relative to each other (not to those of other tour companies). It is neither absolute nor literal. One flag is given to the least taxing tours, seven to the most. Flags are allocated, above all, according to the amount of walking and standing each tour involves. Nevertheless, all ASA tours require that participants have a good degree of fitness enabling 2-3 hours walking or 1-1.5 hours standing still on any given site visit or excursion.

This 11-day Architecture and Design Tour of Belgium involves:

- Exploring Brussels, Ghent and Antwerp on foot.
- Extensive walking (up to 5km per day) and standing during museum and other site visits. Walking tours may include steep slopes, flights of stairs, cobbled streets and uneven ground.
- Regular use of Brussels' public transport system.
- You must be able to carry your own hand luggage. Porterage is not available.
- The use of audio headsets which amplify the voice of your guide (despite noisy surroundings). This technology also allows you to move freely during site visits without missing any information.

It is important to remember that ASA programs are group tours, and slow walkers affect everyone in the group. As the group must move at the speed of the slowest member, the amount of time spent at a site may be reduced if group members cannot maintain a moderate walking pace. ASA tours should not present any problem for active people who can manage day-to-day walking and stair-climbing. However, if you have any doubts about your ability to manage on a program, please ask your ASA travel consultant whether this is a suitable tour for you.

Please note: it is a condition of travel that all participants agree to accept ASA's directions in relation to their suitability to participate in activities undertaken on the tour, and that ASA retains the sole discretion to direct a tour participant to refrain from a particular activity on part of the tour. For further information please refer to the ASA Reservation Application Form.

Prior to departure, tour members will receive practical notes which include information on visa requirements, health, photography, weather, clothing and what to pack, custom regulations, bank hours, currency regulations, electrical appliances and food. I accept the inherent dangers, risks and uncertainties in travel and those beyond ASA's control and understand they may occur before or during any tour. I have made full and complete disclosure and have not knowingly withheld any medical information about myself from ASA. I have completed this Reservation Application honestly and accurately. I warrant that I am able to participate independently in all activities described by ASA in the itinerary without assistance from any person.

I will advise ASA in writing if any aspect of my fitness and or health conditions change materially at any time before my departure date. I understand and accept that the itinerary, accommodation and lecturers scheduled for this tour may change.

I understand that if I do not consent to the use of my personal information for this purpose, ASA will decline my Reservation Application.

In consideration of ASA's acceptance of my Reservation Application, I irrevocably release and indemnify ASA from all claims that I, or any other party, may have against ASA its employees, invitees, agents and contractors, however arising in respect of any loss, damage, injury, death or expense incurred in the course of booking, preparing for, travelling to, on and from or cancelling any tour.

I release and indemnify ASA with respect to:

Limitation of Liability

ASA is not a carrier, event or tourist attraction host, accommodation or dining service provider. All bookings made and tickets or coupons issued by ASA for transport, event, accommodation, dining and the like are issued as an agent for various service providers and are subject to the terms and conditions and limitations of liability imposed by each service provider. ASA is not responsible for their products, services, terms and conditions. If a service provider cancels or does not deliver the product or service for which you have contracted, and does not give a refund, your remedy lies with the service provider, not ASA.

ASA will not be liable for any claim (e.g. sickness, injury, death, damage or loss) arising from any change, delay, detention, breakdown, border closures, cancellation, failure, accident, act, omission or negligence of any tour service provider or authority however caused (contingencies). You must take out such travel insurance as is available against such contingencies.
