Testimonials

This was the best tour I have ever taken. I have considered a Frank Lloyd Wright tour of the USA for some time, but this tour embraced other famous architects as well as the most significant art galleries. It provided the perfect balance. Jane, NSW.

I loved this trip because of the range of art we enjoyed and the exciting cityscapes we explored, all under the expert guidance of Chris McAuliffe. All together, it was another stand-out ASA tour. Helen, VIC.

settling into our hotel, we walk across the road to the marvellous Boston Public Library for a guided tour. Established in 1848, this was the first large free municipal library in the United States. The present building on Copley Square was completed in 1895, designed by architect Charles Follen McKim as a 'palace of the people'. Structural steel ribs create the vast open space within before extending upwards to form canopies, giving the building the appearance of a great white bird lifting in flight. We continue to explore the innovative architecture of Downtown Manhattan before returning to the hotel. (Overnight New York) B

Day 10: Saturday 28 September, New York

- Walking tour including Fifth Avenue, Trump Tower and the Plaza Hotel area
- Frick Collection
- Met Breuer Museum

Our day will start with a 2-hour walking tour along Fifth Avenue, which provides an opportunity to pass the Trump Tower and the Plaza Hotel. Our first major stop is the magnificent Frick Collection: a true New York treasure. The collection owes its existence to Henry Clay Frick (1849-1919), a Pittsburgh coke and steel industrialist. Although relatively small in size, it does feature an acclaimed collection of Old Master paintings, Renaissance sculpture, eighteenth century furniture, porcelain and bronzes superbly displayed in a glorious Fifth Avenue mansion built by Frick in 1913-1914 as his New York home. This superb house more than justifies a visit in its own right. The museum has a presentation on the life of Frick and the evolution of the collection.

After a break for lunchtime at leisure, we visit the recently opened Met Breuer Museum which houses a collection of modern and contemporary art from the 20th and 21st centuries, sourced from artists around the world. The building itself was designed by Marcel Breuer in 1966, and housed the Whitney Museum of American Art prior to that museum’s relocation to its new building.

Group members then have the option of extending their visit to see the collection of notable modern artists, while some may wish to further explore some of the city’s great architectural delights: Johnson’s Seagram Building and AT&T House and SOM’s Lever House. (Overnight New York) B

Day 11: Sunday 29 September, New York

- Solomon R. Guggenheim Museum
- New York Public Library
- Rockefeller Center

This morning we visit the Solomon R. Guggenheim Museum. World famous for its striking architecture, it is the work of the architect Frank Lloyd Wright – whom we have encountered in Chicago. Our visit will focus on the extraordinary architecture of this museum and also on the special exhibition that presents the story of the museum through a selection of highlights from the permanent collection.

We walk the short distance to the New York Public Library's flagship Stephen A. Schwarzman Building. This iconic building, with its flight of steps guarded by lions, was opened in 1911. Its Rose Main Reading Room has provided a work and reading space for scholars and notable authors, but also for the general public who are welcome to use its facilities.

The Rockefeller Center, or Rockefeller Plaza, is a complex of nineteen buildings between 48th and 51st Streets. The Center is named after its developer, John D Rockefeller Jr. The largest private building project ever undertaken in modern times, the construction of the fourteen buildings in the Art Deco style began on 17 May 1930, and was completed in 1939. Some of the buildings in the complex are: One Rockefeller Plaza – originally the Time-Life Building; 30 Rockefeller Center ('30 Rock') – the 70-floor GE Building that is the centrepiece of the complex; 50 Rockefeller Plaza – the Bank of America Building, formerly the Associated Press Building; 1260 Avenue of the Americas – Radio City Music Hall. We will take a tour of the complex's significant buildings, gardens and spaces, before visiting 'Top of the Rock', the 3-storey observation deck that provides magnificent views over the city. (Overnight New York) B

Note: A visit to the Museum of Modern Art was originally planned for this afternoon, but as the museum is currently closed to the public .

Day 12: Monday 30 September, New York

- Whitney Museum of American Art
- The High Line and The Shed

This morning we visit the Whitney Museum of American Art. The Whitney opened at this new site in 2015 and is the country's preeminent museum dedicated to collecting, preserving and exhibiting the contemporary art of the United States. After a guided tour and time to visit the Whitney Biennial at your leisure, we walk to the nearby Gansevoort Street entrance to the High Line, a public park built on a historic freight rail line elevated above the streets on Manhattan's West Side. The High Line is owned by the City of New York and maintained and operated by Friends of the High Line. We shall walk a section of this park before returning to the hotel by subway. On our walk we will pass the impressive new art and performance space – The Shed. Opened to the public in April 2019, this is New York's first multi-arts centre designed to commission, produce and present all types of performing arts, visual arts and popular culture. The building itself is highly innovative and its most notable design feature is a telescoping outer shell that deploys over a plaza to create a great hall. (Overnight New York) B

Day 13: Tuesday 1 October, New York

- Central Park
- Metropolitan Museum of Art
- Afternoon at leisure

We start today with a walking tour of Central Park, that wonderful green oasis so important to New Yorkers and visitors alike. We follow this with a visit to the Metropolitan Museum of Art (the Met), one of the world's largest art museums. The collections are extraordinary, featuring works from prehistoric times to the post-industrial age. The antiquities collection is spellbinding, as is the huge holding of tribal art. The Met also has one of the greatest displays of American art and presents a comprehensive collection of European art that is arguably the most outstanding outside Europe. The Egyptian collections, including the Temple of Dendur, are a sight to behold. The medieval collection is housed in the Cloisters, located at the top of Manhattan

Island. A visit could be easily achieved independently in the afternoon. There are a range of eateries in the Met and one of the world's largest and most impressive museum shops. After formal introductions to the collections you will be able to explore the Met at your leisure and stay until closing time, as the rest of the day is free. (Overnight New York) B

Washington - 4 nights

Day 14: Wednesday 2 October, New York – Philadelphia – Washington DC

- The Barnes Foundation, Parkway Museum District

Early this morning we depart New York for Philadelphia to visit the new Barnes Foundation located on Benjamin Franklin Parkway. Located on 4.5 acres, the vast two-storey building houses the Foundation's art collection in an exhibition space that replicates the scale, proportion, and configuration of the original galleries in Merion. Designed by architects Tod Williams and Billie Tsien, it is described as a 'gallery in a garden, a garden in a gallery.' Boasting a textured grey-and-gold Ramon limestone exterior and a glass canopy that glows at night, the building is a breathtaking addition to the Parkway Museum District. It includes a number of sustainable features, including a green roof and a 40,000-gallon rainwater cistern to water the Olin-designed gardens. But the true draw is the Barnes Collection, arguably America's finest collection of Impressionist and Modernist works, including 181 Renoirs, 69 Cézannes and 59 Matisse's, along with works by Manet, Degas, Seurat and Picasso. A tour of this collection will deepen your understanding of the European landscape tradition that has enriched American landscape painting and gardening.

This afternoon we continue our journey south to Washington DC. Time permitting, there will be a short orientation walk in the vicinity of our hotel. (Overnight Washington DC) B

Day 15: Thursday 3 October, Washington DC

- National Mall Monuments and Memorials
- Library of Congress

This morning we embark on an excursion that will highlight some of the great monuments centered on the National Mall, the grand promenade designed by Pierre L'Enfant that stretches from the Capitol Building at one end to the Lincoln Memorial at the other, a Grecian-temple-style structure housing a statue of the former President. From the centre of the National Mall rises the tall white stone obelisk of the Washington Monument. We will drive through beautifully manicured parkland, past the long Reflecting Pool, to the Vietnam Veterans Memorial and the Korean War Memorial. We also pass the many galleries and museums that line the National Mall, several of which we will be returning to during our program.

We finish the morning with a visit to one of the greatest institutions in Washington DC, the magnificent Library of Congress. Three buildings named after early presidents combine to form the library, but it is the 1897 Jefferson Building with which visitors will be most familiar. It is here that we see the impressive Main Reading Room, and the vaulted ceiling of the ornate Great Hall. This is the largest library in the world and houses over 26 million books and 36 million manuscripts, plus significant collections of maps, sheet music, musical instruments and photographs. (Overnight Washington DC) B

Day 16: Friday 4 October, Washington DC

- The Phillips Collection
- National Portrait Gallery

- Smithsonian American Art Museum
- Dinner at Central Michel Richard Restaurant

This morning we visit the Phillips Collection, founded by Duncan Phillips in 1921. The museum is noted for its broad representation of both Impressionist and modern paintings, with works by European masters such as Courbet, Bonnard, Braque, Villon, Cézanne, Daumier, Degas, van Gogh, Klee, Matisse, Monet, and Picasso. In 1923, Phillips purchased Pierre-Auguste Renoir's impressionist painting, Luncheon of the Boating Party (1880-81), the museum's best-known work.

This afternoon we come face to face with some of the most important figures in American history at the National Portrait Gallery. Here, the nation's history is told through portraits of not only statesmen and women, but also of contributors to the performing and visual arts, political and human rights activists, sports champions, and much more.

We spend the afternoon at the Smithsonian American Art Museum (formerly the National Museum of American Art). This museum is home to one of the largest collections of art from the colonial period to the present that was made in the USA. W

This evening we dine at Central Michel Richard, a restaurant that reflects the growing trend of elevating ordinary America fare to a fine dining experience. (Overnight Washington DC) BD

Day 17: Saturday 5 October, Washington DC

- National Gallery of Art

After an introductory tour of the gallery highlights, participants will be free to explore the extensive museum at their own pace. You may even wish to try out the ice-skating rink in the Sculpture Garden!

This afternoon is at leisure. You may wish to visit the National Museum of American History, one of many museums and galleries of the Smithsonian Institution. (Overnight Washington DC) B

Farmington - 1 night

Day 18: Sunday 6 October, Washington DC – Chalk Hill – Farmington

- Kentuck Knob, Chalk Hill

Early this morning we depart Washington and travel to the Laurel Highlands region of western Pennsylvania. Here we visit Frank Lloyd Wright's Kentuck Knob, which bears eloquent testimony to his genius. Dramatic yet serene, the home blends into the mountain against which it stands. It looks out on a breathtaking panorama of the Youghiogheny River Gorge and surrounding mountains. Kentuck Knob is a refinement of Wright's core principles of organic architecture. Designed in 1953 for the I.N. Hagan family, it was constructed by skilled local craftsmen. With an open plan based on a hexagonal grid it is constructed entirely of tidewater red cypress and native fieldstone. These stone walls not only visually anchor the house's two wings but also rise to penetrate the horizontal line of its copper roof. Its open floor plan, cantilevered overhangs and great expanses of glass artfully integrate outdoor and indoor spaces. Its expansive yet intimate interior is furnished to the tastes of its current owners, Lord and Lady Palumbo, dedicated patrons of the arts. A sculpture park has been integrated into the woodlands and informal gardens surrounding the house. It features 35 sculptures by masters such as Andy Goldsworthy, Harry Bertoia, Claes Oldenburg, Ray Smith, Michael Warren and Sir Anthony Caro.

Tonight we stay in a lodge located in the nearby town of Farmington and enjoy a dinner at the hotel. (Overnight Farmington) BD

Pittsburgh - 1 night

Day 19: Monday 7 October, Farmington – Mill Run – Pittsburgh

- Fallingwater, Mill Run: In-depth private visit
- Afternoon at leisure in Pittsburgh
- Farewell Dinner at The Capital Grille, Pittsburgh

This morning we depart our hotel early for a special out-of-hours in-depth tour of Frank Lloyd Wright's most famous house. Fallingwater was designed in 1936 for the family of Pittsburgh department store owner Edgar J. Kaufmann. The house's setting is dominated by the waterfall over which the house is built. The Kaufmanns chose the waterfall location but were unprepared for Wright's suggestion that the house rise over it rather than face it; yet they accepted the architect's original scheme unchanged. Completed in 1939, Fallingwater was constructed of sandstone quarried on the property and was built by local craftsmen. The stone walls rise between reinforced concrete 'trays' carrying the living and bedroom levels, that are dramatically cantilevered over the stream. Fallingwater was the weekend home of the Kaufmann family from 1937 until 1963, when the house, its contents and grounds were presented to the Western Pennsylvania Conservancy by Edgar Kaufmann Jr. Fallingwater is the only remaining great Wright house with its setting, original furnishings, and artwork intact.

In 1986, New York Times architecture critic Paul Goldberger wrote: "This is a house that summed up the 20th century and then thrust it forward still further. Within this remarkable building Frank Lloyd Wright recapitulated themes that had preoccupied him since his career began a half-century earlier, but he did not reproduce them literally. Instead, he cast his net wider, integrating European modernism and his own love of nature and of structural daring, and pulled it all together into a brilliantly resolved totality. Fallingwater is Wright's greatest essay in horizontal space; it is his most powerful piece of structural drama; it is his most sublime integration of man and nature."

We then drive to Pittsburgh where the afternoon will be at leisure. This evening we enjoy a farewell dinner at one of the city's dining institutions – the Capital Grille. (Overnight Pittsburgh) BD

Day 20: Tuesday 8 October, Pittsburgh

- Andy Warhol Museum, Pittsburgh
- Airport transfer for participants departing on the ASA 'designated' flight

Our final visit for the tour is the Andy Warhol Museum which houses the world's largest collection of Warhol's work and archival materials. The collection of drawings, paintings, postcards, videos, sculptures and photographs covers the entire career of the artist, from his student days in his hometown of Pittsburgh through to his pop art paintings and films.

In the afternoon, participants travelling on the ASA 'designated' flight will transfer to the airport to take their flight home to Australia. Alternatively, you may wish to extend your stay in the USA. Please contact ASA if you require further assistance. B

Physical Endurance & Practical Information

Physical Ratings

The number of flags is a guide to the degree of difficulty of ASA tours relative to each other (not to those of other tour companies). It is neither absolute nor literal. One flag is given to the least taxing tours, seven to the most. Flags are allocated, above all, according to the amount of walking and standing each tour involves. Nevertheless, all ASA tours require that participants have a good degree of fitness enabling 2-3 hours walking or 1-1.5 hours standing still on any given site visit or excursion. Many sites are accessed by climbing slopes or steps and have uneven terrain.

This 20-day Art and Architecture in the USA tour involves:

- Exploring Chicago, Boston, New York, Washington DC and Pittsburgh on foot.
- Extensive walking daily (up to 5km per day), and standing during museum and other site visits.
- Use of the New York, Boston and Washington DC subway where participants may need to negotiate many stairs.
- The use of audio headsets which amplify the voice of your guide (despite noisy surroundings). This technology also allows you to move freely during site visits without missing any information.

Other considerations:

- 3- & 4-star hotels with five hotel changes
- You must be able to carry your own hand luggage. Hotel portage includes 1 piece of luggage per person

It is important to remember that ASA programs are group tours, and slow walkers affect everyone in the group. As the group must move at the speed of the slowest member, the amount of time spent at a site may be reduced if group members cannot maintain a moderate walking pace. ASA tours should not present any problem for active people who can manage day-to-day walking and stair-climbing. However, if you have any doubts about your ability to manage on a program, please ask your ASA travel consultant whether this is a suitable tour for you.

Please note: it is a condition of travel that all participants agree to accept ASA's directions in relation to their suitability to participate in activities undertaken on the tour, and that ASA retains the sole discretion to direct a tour participant to refrain from a particular activity on part of the tour. For further information please refer to the ASA Reservation Application Form.

Continuing Professional Development for Architects

Practising architects who travelled on this program in past years qualified for informal Continuing Professional Development points. The eligibility for participants on the 2019 tour to qualify for Continuing Professional Development points is to be confirmed. The tour program includes over 10 hours of on-site learning delivered by qualified architects. Please refer to the daily schedule for the description of the sites visited. For details about the Continuing Professional Development point requirements please refer to the Australian Institute of Architects website: www.architecture.com.au.

Practical Information

Prior to departure, tour members will receive practical notes which include information on visa requirements, health, photography, weather, clothing and what to pack, custom regulations, bank hours, currency regulations, electrical appliances and food. The Department of Foreign Affairs & Trade website has advice for travellers: www.smartraveller.gov.au
