Overnight Chichester (5 nights) • St Ives (3 nights) • Torquay (2 nights) • Moreton-in-Marsh (3 nights) • Richmond (2 nights) • Lincoln (3 nights) • Cambridge (2 nights)

About the Tour

Reading books is one of life's greatest joys. Reading involves entering and spending time in the worlds of authors' imaginations. Rapidly, favourite authors start to feel like old friends as we spend hours in their company. To visit the homes and landscapes of these authors can be a wonderful extension of the joys of reading their works. There is the excitement of recognising places we have long known in our imaginations, the thrill of gaining new perceptions into literary works and the pleasure of an intimate connection with a writer as you visit a much-loved home or walk in a favourite spot.

Exploring More Literary Landscapes of England is a tour designed to give you just such opportunities. We will follow in the footsteps of Alfred, Lord Tennyson, Daphne du Maurier, Virginia Woolf, Laurence Sterne, Rupert Brooke, Nancy Mitford, Agatha Christie and many other classic and popular writers. We will see the buildings they lived in, the fields and countryside that inspired them, the museums they have left behind them, and the manuscripts they laboured over. From stately homes to cottages, from graveyards to cathedrals, from tiny villages to bustling towns, from lush countryside to barren uplands, from the dales to the seaside, we will follow a variety of poets, novelists and playwrights and learn about their lives and writings.

This will be a cultural journey as well as a literary one, with visits to smuggling museums and churches, to a Roman palace and to a fascinating island. There will be historic properties and sites - the town of Captain Cook's apprenticeship, Queen Victoria's beloved Osborne House, one of England's greatest universities - and there will be beautiful rural scenery to walk through and enjoy.

As so many great writers have produced plays, it is appropriate that dramatic performance should be included in this tour. We will watch a play at a spectacular open-air theatre on the Cornish coast.

Film is not forgotten. We will visit the locations used in the filming of several great BBC dramas and movies, such as the unforgettable Castle Howard used for Brideshead Revisited. Also included is Stamford which has been both Middlemarch, and Meryton in 2005's Pride and Prejudice.

We will, throughout the tour, be joined by a variety of guides, specialists on the colleges of Cambridge, on licentious Brighton, on Laurence Sterne's beloved Shandy Hall and on Rupert Brooke's peaceful Grantchester. Susannah will brief us on all the visits to writers' homes and landscapes and will do dramatic readings of poems, letters and extracts from novels, suitable to each location. Her 'Tour Book' will be a written accompaniment to the journey, as well as a memento that you can enjoy after returning home.

Susannah's first 'Literary Landscapes of England' tour took ASA travellers to the homes of the great 'classic' writers of English literature - Shakespeare, Jane Austen, Dickens, the Brontës and others. This second tour frequently touches on those great writers - we find Jane Austen and Dickens in Portsmouth, Elizabeth Gaskell in Whitby, Lord Byron in Cambridge - but it also includes a variety of more modern and popular writers - Agatha Christie, A.S. Byatt whose marvellous novel Possession won the Booker Prize, Winston Graham whose Poldark series created a dramatic rise in Cornish tourism, Graham Greene, and those infamous Mitford Girls. Also included are twentieth century poets such as Rupert Brooke and modern novelists Patrick O'Brian and Mary Wesley. The tour aims to be varied, informative and fun.

You will travel in the company of fellow Australians who share your fascination with good books, your delight in the power of words. Encounter deeply loved writers and make acquaintance with new ones. Treat yourself and explore more English literary landscapes in 2022.

Chichester - 5 nights

Day 1: Friday 6 May, Heathrow – Rodmell – Chichester

- Monk's House, Rodmell

After an early morning arrival in London, we travel to Rodmell and visit Monk's House, the modest home of Virginia Woolf. This was where she and her husband Leonard would "sit, eat, play the gramophone, prop our feet up on the side of the fire, and read endless books". They entertained many literary visitors there, including T.S. Eliot, Vita Sackville-West and E.M. Forster. After her suicide, Virginia Woolf's ashes were buried under two tall elm trees in the garden.

After lunch, we drive to the delightful cathedral city of Chichester. It was while staying here in 1819 that John Keats wrote his poem The Eve of St. Agnes, inspired by the town's medieval buildings, and also The Eve of St. Mark which he hoped conveyed "the sensation of walking about an old country town in a coolish evening". William Blake had a less happy time in Chichester – he was tried in its Guildhall for treason. A more modern poet, Philip Larkin, impressed by the cathedral's ancient monuments, wrote his poem An Arundel Tomb while visiting here. (Overnight Chichester) LD

Day 2: Saturday 7 May, Chichester – Isle of Wight – Chichester

- Osborne House, East Cowes – Isle of Wight
- Farringford House, Freshwater Bay – Isle of Wight
- Tennyson Walk, Isle of Wight

We make an early start this morning to catch a ferry to the Isle of Wight, home to Alfred, Lord Tennyson for nearly forty years. The other famous resident on the island during Tennyson's time was Queen Victoria. Osborne House, her home, became a convalescent home during World War I and A.A. Milne and Robert Graves stayed there. We can see part of the interior of Osborne and enjoy the Queen's beautiful gardens.

We next drive to Farringford, Tennyson's house, where we will have a tour of the interior including the library and a wander around the grounds. Tennyson wrote The Charge of the Light Brigade here and entertained writers including Edward Lear, Swinburne, Longfellow and Oliver Wendell Holmes.

After Farringford, we will take a short walk along Green Lane to see Tennyson's bridge, the start of his path up the Down, together with the thatched church in Freshwater. There will not be time to do the Tennyson Trail as it involves a stiff climb and more walking than we can fit in to the day, but we will walk far enough to get a sense of the landscape Tennyson loved so much and which he celebrated in his work:

"Come to the Isle of Wight;
Where far from noise and smoke of town,
I watch the twilight falling brown
All round a careless order'd garden
Close to the ridge of a noble down."

We catch the ferry back to the mainland in the evening. (Overnight Chichester) BL

Day 3: Sunday 8 May, Chichester – Portsmouth – Chichester

- Portsmouth Historic Dockyard
- Charles Dickens Birthplace Museum, Portsmouth
- The Arthur Conan Doyle Collection at the City Museum, Portsmouth
- Walking tour of Old Portsmouth & the Royal Garrison Church (exterior)

It was ships just like the Victory that Patrick O'Brian describes his characters taking into naval battles in his Aubrey/Maturin series of novels. We will visit the Royal Dockyards of Portsmouth and enjoy a guided tour of this famous ship.

In the afternoon we will explore Old Portsmouth, birthplace of Charles Dickens and home to Fanny Price, heroine of Mansfield Park. It is also where Sir Arthur Conan Doyle first began to practise as a doctor. So few patients came to see him that he began writing stories about a man called Sherlock Holmes to fill in the time. We shall first visit the Charles Dickens Birthplace Museum, a modest house where the author was born, now furnished in a style appropriate to the time of his birth. We then move on to the City Museum, home to the magnificent Arthur Conan Doyle collection donated to the city by Richard Lancelyn Green. This collection brings together an unparalleled variety of books, documents and objects connected to Holmes and the life of his creator.

We then stroll along the Old Ramparts, just as Fanny Price and her family did, and past the Royal Garrison Church, partly roofless since World War II. Its English Heritage listed stained glass windows depict various scenes from history. (Overnight Chichester) B

Day 4: Monday 9 May, Chichester – Fishbourne – Chichester

- Fishbourne Roman Palace
- Literary walking tour of Chichester
- Afternoon at leisure in Chichester

This morning we travel to Fishbourne, one of the major Roman relics in Britain. It was probably the palace of Cogidubnus who enjoyed Roman baths and heating systems to help him cope with the British climate. Marcus Didius Falco, the private informer hero of Lindsay Davis's historical detective novels, visits this part of the country when he is sent to "that foul bog Britain". We will look around the ruins and visit the adjoining museum to learn about the history of this fascinating site.

Upon our return to Chichester, we shall take a literary walking tour of Chichester. The remainder of the afternoon will be at leisure. (Overnight Chichester) B

Day 5: Tuesday 10 May, Chichester – Brighton – Chichester

- The Royal Pavilion, Brighton
- Literary walking tour of Brighton

Today we visit a city of sea breezes, murder and elopements. Graham Greene loved Brighton, but opens his novel Brighton Rock with the line: "Hale knew, before he had been three hours in Brighton, that they meant to murder him." Jane Austen used it as the setting for Lydia Bennet's elopement with Wickham in Pride and Prejudice.

Upon arrival in Brighton, we will then visit the famous Royal Pavilion, an amazing building which puts in an appearance in lots of novels. It began as a farmhouse and was turned into an ornate fantasy palace by the Prince Regent (later King George IV).

Brighton has had many famous literary visitors – Dr Johnson, Oscar Wilde, Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, Thackeray (who set part of Vanity Fair there) and Dickens (who used it in Dombey and Son) are just a few of them. We will enjoy a literary walk with guide Gill Balfour of Quite Literally Tours to hear what these writers thought of Brighton and to learn about Brighton past and present. (Overnight Chichester) B

St Ives - 3 nights

Day 6: Wednesday 11 May, Chichester – Exeter – Bodmin Moor – St Ives

- The Cathedral Church of Saint Peter, Exeter
- Jamaica Inn, Bodmin Moor

This is a day of travel with "some miles to go before we sleep", but we have some enjoyable stopping places en-route. The first will be at Exeter, cathedral and university city and county capital of Devon. The cathedral, which we will explore, appears in a delightful scene in Mary Wesley's Harnessing Peacocks and has a memorial to R.D. Blackmore of Lorna Doone fame. The town itself appears in John Fowles' The French Lieutenant's Woman. It was here, at the Turk's Head Tavern, that Dickens found the original Fat Boy for The Pickwick Papers.

We move on into Daphne Du Maurier country, so our next stop will be at the smugglers' hideout of Jamaica Inn on the grim uplands of Bodmin Moor. The Inn now celebrates Du Maurier's book with a museum and a blood-thirsty theme to its bar and restaurant where there will be an opportunity to have refreshments.

St Ives, our next base, is in a pretty little Cornish bay. Its focal point is a lighthouse on Godrevy's Island. This is the model of the one in To the Lighthouse. Virginia Woolf might have placed the action of her novel in Scotland, but the lighthouse and the scenery were created from her childhood memories of holidays in St Ives. She pictured Mrs Ramsay "watching it with fascination, hypnotised, as if it were stroking with its silver fingers some sealed vessel in her brain whose bursting would flood her with delight". St Ives, for her, meant rock climbing and cricket (Virginia was a demon bowler!). St Ives and the lighthouse also find their way into Rosamunde Pilcher's The Shell Seekers. She was born nearby and set many of her novels in Cornwall. (Overnight in St Ives) BD

Day 7: Thursday 12 May, St Ives – Botallack Mine – Pendeen – St Ives – Minack Theatre – St Ives

- Botallack and Levant Tin Mines & Botallack Count House
- The Minack Theatre, Porthcurno (performance to be confirmed in 2022)

Today we visit the Botallack and Wheal Owles tin mines along the exposed cliffs of the Cornish 'Tin Coast', which feature in the Poldark television series as 'Wheal Grace' and 'Wheal Leisure', respectively. For those wanting to experience the wild Poldark landscape can walk along the coastal track to view, from the best photographic vantage point, the famed Crowns engine houses of the Botallack Mine clinging to the foot of the cliffs as well as the Wheal Owles Mine, while others can stay at the Botallack Count House. We then transfer to the Levant Mine with its restored 1840s beam engine for a tour.

The afternoon will be spent back in St Ives where you have a couple of hours to explore this holiday resort town or enjoy a rest at the hotel.

An optional visit can be made to the Tate St Ives which, after extensive renovations in 2015, now contains a permanent exhibition dedicated to those iconic 20th-century artists who lived and worked in the town. Artists represented include Ben Nicholson, Peter Lanyon, Barbara Hepworth, Piet Mondrian, Naum Gabo and Paule Vézelay. Otherwise the Barbara Hepworth Museum and Sculpture Garden where the 20th century sculptor lived and worked is another fascinating place to visit.

Late-afternoon, we depart St Ives for the cliff-side Minack Theatre at Porthcurno where our evening will be spent enjoying an evening performance at the spectacular open-air Minack Theatre. (Overnight in St Ives) BLD

Day 8: Friday 13 May, St Ives – Trerice – Cornish Coastline – St Agnes – St Ives

- Trerice House, Newquay
- Cornish coastline
- St Agnes village and harbour

This morning begins with a visit to Trerice House, an Elizabethan gem near Newquay, that is the home Winston Graham had in mind for Trenwith in his the popular Poldark series, where Ross's sweetheart Elizabeth lives unhappily with her husband Francis. After exploring this charming house and garden, we will enjoy lunch here.

The afternoon will be spent with our Blue Badge Guide, driving along the rugged part of Cornwall where Ross and Demelza, together with smugglers and tin miners, fill the twelve volumes written by Winston Graham. Along this Cornish coastline we will discover other sites associated with the popular Poldark series that was both set and filmed in this part of England, including a visit to St Agnes in the heart of Cornwall's tin mining industry. This village inspired St Ann's, the local market town in the novels. (Overnight St Ives) BL

Torquay - 2 nights

Day 9: Saturday 14 May, St Ives – Fowey – Polperro – Torquay

- Rebecca Walk, Fowey
- Polperro Heritage Museum of Smuggling & Fishing

There are many famous writers associated with Cornwall – Virginia Woolf, Winston Graham, Katherine Mansfield, John Betjeman, Mary Wesley, Rosamunde Pilcher, Tennyson, Kenneth Grahame and Sir Arthur Quiller Couch. This morning we focus on Daphne du Maurier, author of the haunting Rebecca, Frenchman's Creek and Jamaica Inn.

Du Maurier could see Fowey Haven from each of her three homes in the district. Fowey inspired most of her novels, it was where she met her husband and sailed off for her honeymoon and nearby is her beloved Menabilly (not open to the public) which was the original for Manderley. In Fowey we join a Rebecca Walk, which takes us to places associated with the novel. Rebecca is said to sail the coastline in a ghostly boat! Fowey was also deeply loved by Kenneth Grahame who could indulge his passion there for "messing about in boats".

Smuggling has been a big part of Cornish history and literature. The quaint village of Polperro, everything a Cornish fishing village ought to be, has a smuggling museum which we will visit before departing for Torquay, our home for the next two nights. (Overnight in Torquay) B

Day 10: Sunday 15 May, Torquay – Brixham – Torquay

- Agatha Christie Mile, Torquay
- Torquay Museum
- Greenway House & Gardens, Galpton, nr. Brixham

In 1916 a young woman living in Torquay wrote her first novel. It was to be four years before her book was published as publishers kept turning it down, but from then on she would publish a book a year and be referred to as the 'Queen of Crime'. We will visit Agatha Christie's Torquay, walk the Agatha Christie Mile, visit the Agatha Christie exhibition in the Torquay Museum and see her bust in the city gardens. Torquay has associations with Elizabeth Barrett Browning (whose doctor cruelly made her get up at 10am instead of at noon while she was there!) and also with Tennyson who called it "the loveliest sea village in England".

This afternoon we leave Torquay by coach to visit Greenway House, Agatha's own beloved home which she shared with her archaeologist husband, Max Mallowan. (Overnight in Torquay) BD

Moreton-in-Marsh - 3 nights

Day 11: Monday 16 May, Torquay – Slad – Cheltenham – Moreton-in-Marsh

- Lunch at the Woolpack Pub, Slad
- Literary walking tour of the scenic Slad Valley, incl. the Holy Trinity Church and grave of Laurie Lee

This morning we depart Torquay for the Slad Valley whose pastoral beauty has been much celebrated ever since Cider with Rosie, Laurie Lee's autobiographical evocation of rural life there, became a bestseller in the 1960s.

Lee moved to Slad with his mother and a tumble of six brothers and sisters in the latter years of World War I, when he was a small boy. They all squeezed into Bank Cottages (now known as Rosebank Cottage) off Steanbridge Lane and lived cheerfully and frugally on money sent by Lee's father, who had in all other respects deserted them. Lee left school at fifteen, home at nineteen.

Lee was forty-five when Cider with Rosie was published and its enormous success enabled him and his wife, Kathy, to buy a house back in Slad. With their daughter Jessy, they divided their time between London and the Slad Valley. While Lee continued to write, he also bought land in the valley to help protect the area and campaigned vociferously against development. His favourite haunt was Slad's down-to-earth Woolpack Inn. Today, his grave in the village churchyard overlooks the Woolpack and, as Slad people say, he lies between pulpit and pub.

We shall have lunch at the Woolpack, a 16th-century traditional country inn, where a local guide will give us a talk about Laurie Lee. This will be followed by a scenic walk along a path dotted with posts featuring different Laurie Lee poems. On the walk, we shall also visit the Holy Trinity Church whose churchyard contains the grave of Laurie Lee. (Overnight Moreton-in-Marsh) BL

Day 12: Tuesday 17 May, Moreton-in-Marsh – Great Tew – Great Rollright – Stow-on-the-Wold – Chipping Campden – Moreton-in-Marsh – Cheltenham – Moreton in Marsh

- Great Tew Church and village
- Rollright Stones, Great Rollright
- Lunch at leisure in Stow-on-the-Wold
- Burnt Norton, Chipping Campden
- Evening reception at Stanway House, Cheltenham

The morning begins with a visit to the picturesque village of Great Tew with its charming thatched cottages and gabled roofs. Before having lunch in the quaintly named Cotswold's town of Stow-on-the-Wold, we stop at Great Rollright to view the mystical Rollright Stones comprising a circle of seventy-seven unhewn stones dating back to the late Stone Age which have inspired a number of colourful local legends.

The afternoon is spent in the garden of Burnt Norton near Chipping Campden. The intriguing story of how this 17th century manor house got its name inspired Lady Harrowby, our host, to write her novel 'Burnt Norton', published under the name of Caroline Sandon. In 1934, T.S. Eliot was inspired whilst rambling in the derelict gardens of the then unoccupied house to fashion the first of his Four Quartets, also named Burnt Norton. His poem will be read to us by the pools and we will see the rose garden that inspired T.S. Eliot to write the lines "Other echoes inhabit the garden. Shall we follow?".

J.M. Barrie, author of the much loved Peter Pan, took inspiration from his time in the picturesque village of Stanway in the north Cotswolds. He spent the Summers between 1923 and 1932 staying in the impressive Stanway House, which he rented from the Earl of Wemyss, whose daughter Lady Cynthia Asquith was a good friend of Barrie's. Such was Barrie's love of the game of cricket that he paid for a cricket pavilion at Stanway House and founded an amateur cricket team, the Allahakbarries, made up of his friends (including Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, H.G. Wells, Jerome K. Jerome, G.K. Chesterton, A.A. Milne, and P.G. Wodehouse!). We will be treated to an evening reception at Stanway House which will include a literary tour of Stanway and canapés and champagne. The fountain will be turned on especially for us. (Overnight in Moreton-in-Marsh) BD

Day 13: Wednesday 18 May, Moreton-in-Marsh – Kelmscott – Swinbrook – Asthall – Moreton-in-Marsh

- William Morris' grave at St George's churchyard, Kelmscott
- Kelmscott Manor (to be confirmed 2022)
- Mitford graves at St Mary's churchyard, Swinbrook
- Asthall Manor and St Nicholas Church (to be confirmed 2022)

This morning, we drive to Kelmscott Manor, the sixteenth century home of poet and designer William Morris, which was "a heaven on earth" for him. Today it houses a collection of his work as a writer, thinker, artist and craftsman. We will also call in at Kelmscott Church to see his "rudely simple" grave.

In the afternoon, we visit Swinbrook and the little churchyard where Nancy, Pam, Diana and Unity Mitford are buried. Not far away is Asthall Manor, home to the Mitford Girls, which Nancy turned into Alconleigh in her novel Love in a Cold Climate. Asthall is in private hands, but we can go inside to see the famous "Hons Cupboard" where the young Mitfords all tried to find out about sex. The tiny church next door is where "Uncle Matthew" timed the poor parson giving the sermon. (Overnight in Moreton-in-Marsh) B

Richmond - 2 nights

Day 14: Thursday 19 May, Moreton-in-Marsh – Lichfield – Richmond

- Lichfield Cathedral
- Dr Samuel Johnson Birthplace Museum, Lichfield

This is another day of travel, with pleasant stops en route. Dr Samuel Johnson thought that the inhabitants of his birthplace Lichfield were the "most sober, decent people in England". Daniel Defoe called it "a place of good conversation and good company, above all the towns in this county or the next". Johnson's birthplace is a handsome eighteenth century house near to the cathedral which has memorials to him and to his pupil, the great actor David Garrick. The Cathedral Close in Lichfield is also the setting for Lady Bountiful's house in Farquhar's play The Beaux Stratagem. We will visit the birthplace, and there will be time to also see Lichfield Cathedral, on our way north to Richmond, gateway to the Yorkshire Dales.

Our base for the next two nights will be Richmond, one of Yorkshire's most attractive towns. Curfew is rung each night from its medieval church. C.L. Dodgson ("Lewis Carroll") attended school here before going to Rugby. Richmond is also the model for Eastvale, setting of Peter Robinson's Inspector Banks novels. (Overnight in Richmond) BD

Day 15: Friday 20 May, Richmond – Coxwold – Castle Howard – Richmond

- Shandy Hall and St Michael's Church, Coxwold
- Castle Howard

Shandy Hall is not a stately home (its name was a joke), but it was the much loved residence of early novelist Laurence Sterne. In the comfortable study he wrote of the bawdy, satirical ramblings of Tristram Shandy, Uncle Toby and Dr Slop and the resulting novel was a sensation in London in the 1760s. The home was a "delicious retreat" to Sterne, especially once his wife had moved out and he could plan for his mistress to move in. After looking round the house we will also explore the village, Coxwold, including Sterne's local church and lunch will be served at the Coxwold Tearooms.

One of the grandest houses in England is Castle Howard, designed in 1699 by Vanbrugh, himself a playwright as well as an architect. Thanks to television, Castle Howard is now linked to a more modern writer, Evelyn Waugh. His Brideshead Revisited was filmed there twice, capturing quite gloriously the baroque splendour of the house and estate. (Overnight in Richmond) BL

Lincoln - 3 nights

Day 16: Saturday 21 May, Richmond – Whitby – Scarborough – Lincoln

- Literary walking tour of Whitby incl. Whitby Abbey with Professor O’Gorman
- Anne Brontë’s grave at St Mary’s churchyard, Scarborough
- The Sitwell library at Woodend, Scarborough

This morning we visit the fishing port of Whitby which is rich in literary associations and, as the home of Captain Cook, is a special place for Australians. It was in the Whitby shipyard that the Endeavour was built. We will spend the morning in Whitby, visiting the thirteenth century Abbey, now in ruins but once the home to Caedmon, the first English Christian poet, along with visiting the church of St Mary the Virgin. Joining us will be Professor Francis O’Gorman, Saintsbury Professor of English Literature at the University of Edinburgh. After the literary walking tour we will have lunch at the Magpie Café, famous for their fish and chips.

Not far away is Scarborough, a sea-side town and spa, with splendid cliff scenery, sandy bays and a castle. Anne Brontë spent her last days here and is buried in St Mary’s graveyard. We will make a short stop to visit her grave on the way to Woodend, the Sitwell holiday house. We will be met by Andrew Clay, the Director of Woodend Creative, who will give us a talk about the Sitwells in the library. We will drive past the Stephen Joseph Theatre on our way south to the cathedral city on a hill, Lincoln, where we spend the next three nights. (Overnight in Lincoln) BL

Day 17: Sunday 22 May, Lincoln

- Lincoln Cathedral
- Time at leisure in Lincoln

The beautiful city of Lincoln, which will be our base for the next two nights, is in the heart of Tennyson country. The morning will be free to explore the historic city and its cathedral. Tennyson’s statue stands outside the cathedral. Inside is the tomb of Katherine Swynford, heroine of Anya Seton’s novel Katherine and mistress of John of Gaunt. The Jew’s House dates from c.1170 and is one of the oldest houses in Britain still in use. (Overnight in Lincoln) B

Day 18: Monday 23 May, Lincoln – Renishaw Hall – Eyam – Lincoln

- Renishaw Hall
- Eyam Museum

We depart Lincoln early this morning and travel to Renishaw Hall, a country house in Derbyshire where the Sitwell family has lived in this ancestral home for nearly four centuries. It is also thought to be the house that inspired the Chatterley’s home in Lady Chatterley’s Lover, and it was the home used as ‘Pemberley’ in the 1980 TV film of Pride and Prejudice.

On arrival we visit Renishaw’s beautiful Italianate garden, park and lake, that were created by Sir George Sitwell, father of writers Osbert, Edith and Sacheverell. Sir George spent much of his life in Italy, where he had bought the huge palace-villa, Montegufoni. In England, he wanted to create an Italian garden in contrast to Gertrude Jekyll's 'colourful' designs. The use of water, fountains, temples, cave and avenues adds effect and shelter for tender specimen plants.

The interior of Renishaw Hall, which features an antechamber designed by Edwin Lutyens, is graced with many Italian artworks and pieces of furniture collected by Sir George. The painting collection includes Salvator Rosa's Belisarius in Disgrace, a painting that was once much appreciated by Benjamin Franklin, and also the largest private collection of John Piper artworks. Our tour will have a literary focus, as Renishaw Hall is a house 'built on books', with a wide range of literary interests and connections over a period of almost 400 years. Each Sitwell generation has made its unique contribution to the literary legacy of the house and the family, particularly the famous 'literary trio' – Edith, Osbert and Sacheverell Sitwell. Our tour will follow the fortunes of the Sitwell family as wealthy book collectors in the 17th, 18th and 19th centuries, and will include a special visit to the Renishaw Hall Library.

After lunch we will travel to Eyam and explore the Plague Museum. In 1665 a tailor from Eyam ordered a bale of cloth from London to make up into clothes for the villagers, unintentionally triggering a chain of events that led to many villagers dying from bubonic plague. Between the first death and the last, the villagers set an extraordinary example of self-sacrifice by sealing off the village from the surrounding areas to prevent the disease spreading. This is the setting for Geraldine Brooks's Year of Wonders, and for such a small village, Eyam has had a surprisingly rich literary history. (Overnight in Lincoln) BL

Cambridge - 2 nights

Day 19: Tuesday 24 May, Lincoln – Stamford – Cambridge

- Walking tour of Stamford
- Pepys Library, Cambridge

On our drive south today we stop off at the market town of Stamford. The BBC used Stamford, one of the finest medieval towns in England, as the town of Middlemarch in their version of George Eliot's novel of the same name. More recently it was used as the town of Meryton in the 2005 movie version of Pride and Prejudice.

We then drive on to Cambridge, one of the great university towns of England. A Roman town was established here by AD70 and from the 13th century students began coming to attend the university. Milton, Tennyson, Wordsworth, Dryden, A.A. Milne, C.P. Snow, Thackeray, Thomas Gray, C.S. Lewis, Darwin and E.M. Forster were just a few of the writers who studied here.

One badly behaved student at Cambridge was the great diarist Samuel Pepys. He was reprovved in the college records for being "scandalously overseene in drink". He bequeathed his library of 3000 books, the bookcases he had had especially made to house them, his engravings and his diary to his old college Magdalene, and this afternoon, we shall enjoy a special private tour of the superb Pepys Library. (Overnight in Cambridge) B

Day 20: Wednesday 25 May, Cambridge – Grantchester – Cambridge

- Walking tour of Cambridge and the colleges
- Trinity College and the Wren Library, Cambridge
- Walking tour in Grantchester
- The Orchard Tea Garden, Grantchester

- Punting down the river Cam

This morning, we shall enjoy a walking tour of the various colleges of this lovely university town. We shall also visit the library at nearby Trinity College which was started by Sir Christopher Wren. In this superb building is a statue of Byron (who broke every rule in the college books when he was a student there) and manuscripts by Milton, Tennyson and Thackeray are on display.

After lunch, we travel just out of Cambridge to the quaint rural village of Grantchester, setting of the recent popular TV series based on the novels of James Runcie. However, the afternoon will be devoted mainly to Rupert Brooke, handsome and poetic, whose The Soldier with its lines "If I should die, think only this of me..." became the great patriotic poem of World War I. We will take a Rupert Brooke walk around the village and its environs. Brooke wrote a famous poem about Grantchester which he often visited:

*"Stands the church clock at ten to three?
And is there honey still for tea?"*

he asks in the poem. We will explore Grantchester and indulge in tea and honey at the Orchard Tea Garden.

We will then follow a great student tradition and travel back to Cambridge by punt, giving us time to enjoy the beauties of the River Cam. (Overnight in Cambridge) B

Day 21: Thursday 26 May: Cambridge – Chalfont St Giles – Stoke Poges – Heathrow

- Milton's Cottage, Chalfont St Giles
- Lunch at The Orangery, Stoke Park
- St. Giles Church and churchyard, Stoke Poges

We leave Cambridge this morning for the picturesque village of Chalfont St Giles, where we visit the home of English poet John Milton. The Cottage is now a museum and Grade I listed building, and the surrounding garden is filled with the plants and flowers that feature in Milton's poetry. The museum houses the finest open collection of first editions of Milton's work. We then drive to Stoke Park where we shall enjoy lunch in The Orangery.

Stoke Poges is our last literary shrine on the tour. Thomas Gray's mother lived in this village and the poet came often to visit her. In the churchyard, under the yew trees, he wrote his famous Elegy in a Country Churchyard. When Gray died he was buried with his mother and there is now a large monument to him in the churchyard. The National Trust has purchased the surrounding land so the church will always have the appearance of a 'country churchyard'.

All good things must come to an end! Our tour ends with a coach trip to London Heathrow Airport where we must all say goodbye. BL

Physical Endurance & Practical Information

Physical Ratings

The number of flags is a guide to the degree of difficulty of ASA tours relative to each other (not to those of other tour companies). It is neither absolute nor literal. One flag is given to the least taxing tours, seven to the most. Flags are allocated, above all, according to the amount of walking and standing each tour involves. Nevertheless, all ASA tours require that participants have a good degree of fitness enabling 2-3 hours walking or 1-1.5 hours standing still on any given site visit or excursion. Many sites are accessed by climbing slopes or steps and have uneven terrain.

This 21-day Literary Tour of England involves:

- A daily schedule generally involving an early-morning departure (between 8.00-8.30am), concluding in the late afternoon (5.30-6.00pm).
- 2-3 site visits most days involving up to 1-2 hours of walking at each (sometimes on uneven terrain, cobbled streets, and steep slopes) and/or standing, interspersed with coach travel.
- The use of audio headsets which amplify the voice of your guide (despite noisy surroundings). This technology also allows you to move freely during site visits without missing any information.
- 3- to 4-star hotels with six hotel changes.
- You must be able to carry your own hand luggage. Hotel portorage includes 1 piece of luggage per person (where portorage is available).

It is important to remember that ASA programs are group tours, and slow walkers affect everyone in the group. As the group must move at the speed of the slowest member, the amount of time spent at a site may be reduced if group members cannot maintain a moderate walking pace. ASA tours should not present any problem for active people who can manage day-to-day walking and stair-climbing. However, if you have any doubts about your ability to manage on a program, please ask your ASA travel consultant whether this is a suitable tour for you.

Please note: it is a condition of travel that all participants agree to accept ASA's directions in relation to their suitability to participate in activities undertaken on the tour, and that ASA retains the sole discretion to direct a tour participant to refrain from a particular activity on part of the tour. For further information please refer to the ASA Reservation Application Form.

Prior to departure, tour members will receive practical notes which include information on visa requirements, health, photography, weather, clothing and what to pack, custom regulations, bank hours, currency regulations, electrical appliances and food. The Department of Foreign Affairs & Trade website has advice for travellers: www.smartraveller.gov.au
